

EXON outsourcing - data extraction from your invoices

EXON outsourcing

„Make it easy for your accountants, let us underwrite the data.“

For many companies, document processing is a source of high financial costs, error rates and inefficient time for its staff. The reason is the daily routine work with a large number of documents and data that need to be overwritten, recorded and processed. These are mostly invoices. Companies that receive hundreds to thousands of invoices a month will save considerable paid work hours in copy work, so that their employees can use their time more efficiently for other, more important tasks.
